

INTO VALENCIENNES' CENTRE

French tanks, about 100 men, have broken through German lines. The British have captured the town of Hesdin, which has been held by the Germans throughout most of it's history, and the British have captured the town of Fauquemberg, which has been held by the Germans throughout most of it's history.

Further south, British, American and French anti-aircraft have broken through British and American who had advanced slowly east of the Meuse River. The tanks of the Allies were reported to be at the Lorraine and American sectors. The British have also made a breakthrough. They have been making raiding operations there and further west during the last few days.

Metz is the hinge upon which the whole German line is resting. A blow at that fortress if successful might throw into confusion the whole retrograde movement from the Meuse to the North Sea.

ALLIES TO HAMMER ENEMY ALL WINTER

Plan to Give Germany No Time to Rest Troops or Manufacture Supplies

PEACE IS HER ONLY HOPE

(By Associated Press)

With the American Forces Northwest of Verdun, Oct. 22—Unless they are saved by their pigs for peace the Germans will be subjected to wholesale hammering along the greater part of the Western Front throughout the winter.

Indications are that it is not intended to give them a breathing spell now.

Another rather ominous sign is the pointed up decrease activity which the Germans are preparing to such a degree as to make certain termination of the struggle.

The British are reported to be making preparations to cross the Meuse and the French to cross the Aisne and Marne.
