

DALLAS NURSE DIES AFTER FIGHTING INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC.

MISS ELEANORE INGRAM BAIN

Miss Eleanor Ingram Bain, 38 years old, died yesterday afternoon at the home of Dr. J. B. Gambrell, 3909 Worth street. Miss Bain, who was a graduate nurse, came to Dallas nine years ago and went into service at the Baptist Sanitarium. She worked hours overtime during the spinal meningitis epidemic seven or eight years ago, and scarcely rested at all, it is said, while the influenza epidemic was at its height in Dallas recently. Following this her health broke down. Her death was due directly to heart failure.

Miss Bain was a native of Edinburgh, Scotland. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. W. W. Bain; four sisters, Mrs. John Scott of Vancouver, B. C.; Misses Janie and Addie Bain of Edinburgh and Mrs. Lawrence Cathles of Dallas, and four brothers, Charles and Tom Bain of Edinburgh and William and John Bain in the British Army.

Funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Cathles, 5210 Swiss avenue, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, the Rev. Randolph Ray officiating. Burial will be in Oakland Cemetery. The active pallbearers will be Dr. H. M. Doolittle, Dr. R. W. Baird, Dr. Charles M. Flynn, Dr. W. T. White, Dr. C. M. Griggsby and Dr. Elbert Dunlap. The honorary pallbearers will be members of the Registered Nurses' Association.

within the next three days; Thursday and Friday for school boys and girls, and Saturday for boys and girls who work. The organization is an important adjunct of the United War Work campaign to raise $250,000,000 for the seven war organizations, and the members of the "Victory Boys and Girls" pledge themselves to either earn or save the amounts of their pledges to the organization.

Meetings already are being held in the public schools, and Superintendent J. F. Kendall has instructed the "Four Minute Teachers" to explain the plan to their pupils. This work is to be completed in advance of the opening of the general campaign Monday, and it is expected that the organization will be completed by Saturday afternoon, with all pledges in.

It is to be made a point of honor with the members not to ask their parents for the money they pledge. The boys and girls either will earn the money outright or else actually save it from their allowances, by denying themselves customary pleasures or luxuries by walking to school, doing without extra clothes and the like.

Circulars have been distributed among the school children suggesting various ways to earn or save money for this purpose. The Dallas boys and girls subscribed liberally to the Y. M. C. A. War fund along such a plan last year.

NEW OFFICERS WILL TAKE CHARGE DEC. 1

SEVERAL CHANGES EXPECTED TO BE MADE IN FORCES AT COURTHOUSE.

With the election past, attention is now turned to new county officials and their appointments. A canvass of newly elected officials shows that none will qualify before Dec. 1, the beginning of the county fiscal year.

J. Willis Pierson will assume the duties of District Attorney when the time comes. He will take the place of Mike T. Lively, who has not announced his future plans. Mr. Pierson has already announced that Grover C. Adams will be first assistant. However, Mr. Adams is now in training for an army commission. He will remain on indefinite leave of absence. No other assistants have been named for this office. Several now in the department are sure to remain.

There will be many new faces in the Sheriff's office when Dan Harston succeeds W. K. Reynolds. Mr. Harston has not announced his list. Marsh Elliston, present Tax Assessor, will become chief deputy. Joe Davis is due to become jailer and Dave Smith will likely remain in the department.

W. K. Reynolds, present Sheriff, is not certain what business he will enter. He recently bought a large farm. Some of his time will no doubt go to the management of this.

There will be two new faces on the Commissioners' Court. Cecil L. Simpson will become County Judge, succeeding Quentin D. Corley. Porter Cochran will take the seat of J. T. Miller, Commissioner of precinct No. 1.

Judge Corley will practice law. Commissioner Miller is already making plans for large scale farming for next year.

In the Tax Assessor's office, William E. Horton will take over the place to which he was elected Tuesday. He says there will be no changes in the office. So far he has not decided on whom he will appoint as chief deputy, the place he now holds.

W. S. Skiles, elected County Clerk, is now filling the unexpired term of Ben F. Cullum. There will be no changes there.

In the Criminal Courts Building, E. H. Alexander will go to the bench of Justice Court, precinct No. 1, and Murray Fisher will become Constable of the same precinct.

Mr. Alexander will succeed Leslie Stewart, who has not announced future plans. Murray Fisher is present night jailer. He will take the place now held by John Baldwin.

The first woman ever to hold office in Dallas County, Mrs. Blanche Elliott, will take over the duties of County Treasurer. She will succeed B. M. Bond.
