SIMPLICITY IS URGED

Mayor Hodgson Tells Welfare League Gorgeous Gowns for Opera Are Deplorable.

Continuance of wartime simplicity in our mode of living now that the war is over was urged by Mayor L. Hodgson before the open forum meeting of the Woman's Welfare League yesterday noon at the Studio building.

"It is this custom of describing the beautiful gowns and gorgeous attire of women who attend grand opera and social functions that I especially deplore," he said, "because it lays emphasis on the artificial things that express a person's individuality and not on the real worth and character. How do you suppose it strikes the soldiers, who made the supreme sacrifice that what is best in our civilization might endure, to see such things exploited? How can we inspire them with their one uniform with our gowns, when we give space to such things in our papers?"

"Woman's place must be in the home, but the home is the defense of decency and purity and in this great reconstruction era we must look more and more to woman's influence as a dominant factor in its progress."

He also touched on the child labor problem as one that must be met in the near future, suggesting that the state should be for families dependent on child labor, for children cannot be made to "bring in dirt of their greedy men" at the cost of their health and well-being.

Resolutions of sympathy, which will be sent to Mrs. Gilbert Guttersen, who was killed in the service, were read. The league will add its first gold star to the service flag.

Dr. Michael Ulrich explained the purpose of the propaganda picture, "The End of the Road," which the State Board of Health will show Friday evening at the Auditorium.

Dr. L. M. Benese will address the members of the league Tuesday.

47 NEW CASES FOR DAY.

Influenza Outbreak Not Alarming.

Health officials say. Despite the report of forty-seven new cases of influenza and six deaths in St. Paul yesterday, the health department gave out every reassurance to the residents of the city last night.

At the Department of Health office it was said that the releases nearly equaled the number of new cases, and that the latter were reported from such a wide area that no cause for alarm exists.

827 New State Cases.

Influenza reports from twenty-five cities and towns of the state, returned to the State Board of Health yesterday, and including St. Paul, Minnesota, listed 827 additional cases, seven cases of pneumonia and three under date of December 7.

The influenza cases in the second epidemic, which began in St. Paul, showed seventy-four cases in Montgomery, twenty-two in Grand Meadow, twenty-five in Grand Island, twenty in addition to those previously reported.

W. E. Ditlevson of Blooming Prairie, auditor-elect of Steele county, died of influenza.

Ten Deaths at Suburb.

Two more deaths from influenza and pneumonia at a suburb were reported from South St. Paul yesterday. Mrs. Erick Goranson died after a long illness. Her husband, an employer, died at the stock yards, died at the emergency hospital.

Word also was received at South St. Paul yesterday of the death of Alfred E. Gleason of St. Paul, who died in France. He was formerly employed at the Stock Yards National bank and left for France as a member of an engineer corps a year ago.

MANY NEEDY MADE HAPPY

Goodfellows Carry Cheer to Homes of Influenza Victims.

Ten little faces are wreathed in smiles today.

Don little faces, which yesterday knew little of loneliness or happiness, today mirror the fact that the goodfellows have knocked at their door. Clothes, bedding and groceries galore were piled up in a Waldorf parlor truck and taken to a home just felicitated by the work and where the father and mother and children have recovered recently from influenza.

A father, mother and six small children who live in an humble abode on Douglas street, in another family that has been cheered and aided by the goodfellows. The father is striving to buy the land on which stands his two-room house, but family cares have set up for him a harsh pace.

All the little folks in some old clothes that can be made over for the children. The family also is in need of shoes.

A helping hand will be appreciated by a widow with seven children. The mother of old clothing shoes, stockings and other necessities for Christmas will be glad to have them.

Men and women of this birthday should not marry in haste, but be certain that those whom they choose have similar tastes, life and dislikes and are in the same social class. Those born on this date have a deep love of home and family, are reliable and generous, but are likely to be over-assertive. They will not thank you for unsolicited advice and are domineering in home and business affairs. ## OBERHOFFER LAUDED

Arthur Shattuck, Pianist Here for Concert, Says His Orchestra Is Unusual.

An all-round man with an infatigable grasp of men and events is the most characteristic thing about Arthur Shattuck, pianist, who appeared here under the auspices of the Schubert club last night.

Born in Neenah, Wis., reared abroad, where he worked and studied under the guidance of Prof. Leschke of Vienna, Mr. Shattuck came to America after winning unusual success abroad.

Mr. Shattuck is very modest and says that everything he has gained is the result of hard work and persistence. His mother is a pianist and his grandfather a violinist, music became the most serious thing in his life.

Lauds Symphony Orchestra.

"Why should any one be deprived of the pleasure and self-satisfaction he gets from music?" he said, "just because he has been born unfortunate financially from the artist's viewpoint."

Having visited the Twin Cities when he performed with the symphony orchestra, Mr. Shattuck is not a stranger here. He is the symphony orchestra and Emil Oberhoffer, conductor, that makes the Twin Cities great and known abroad, he contends.

"You people do not realize what you have in Mr. Oberhoffer. He is one of the greatest conductors in the world. All artists say so," he said. "Such a personality, intelligence in music, and understanding as his is very rare. I prefer to play with Mr. Oberhoffer more than with any other conductor, and I have played with the biggest orchestras in the United States and England as well as the Lamoureux and Colonne in Paris."

Is Sportsman as Well.

"That Boston failed to appreciate Mr. Oberhoffer and his art is not unusual, for Boston is Boston," Mr. Shattuck added.

"What I should like to see would be Mr. Oberhoffer conducting the Boston Symphony orchestra. It would be the greatest thing the world could accomplish in music."

Mr. Shattuck is not only interested in music, but in sports and politics. He is an admirer of Wilson and looks forward with interest to the establishing of the freedom of the seas.

RED CROSS LANE MAY ESTABLISH TEA ROOM

NEW DEPARTMENTS CONSTANTLY BEING ADDED

The Red Cross lane is branching out. New departments are being added overnight and there is a rumor that a tea room is soon to be opened. This is a feature that will be enjoyed not only by the public but by the Red Cross workers in addition to the fact that the funds taken in are sure to not the Red Cross a neat little profit.

Tea for girls and boys and especially dolls are greatly needed, as they are sold almost immediately. New blouse dolls bring almost as much in value as if they were bought in the department store. Books and small toys are also in demand.

In the women's clothes shop a number of attractive evening gowns are shown at remarkably low prices. These gowns are just about sold out, though the demand for them has not decreased. Shoes, old, new, large and small—shoes for men, women, evening pumps, walking boots are there waiting for your inspection.

In the art shop several new pictures have come in. Among the most interesting of the collection is a photograph of Abraham Lincoln and family which had been presented to the Nelson family here. Given to the Red Cross lane art store, it has been purchased by a group of interested women to be placed in Lincoln house.
