RICHMOND SALOONS OPEN; GATHERING OF CROWD IS BARRED

RICHMOND, Nov. 8.—Saloons at El Cerrito were reopened today after having been closed for over a week at the orders of the health department. Joe Jacobs, proprietor of Sullivan's, a resort at Stege Junction, appeared before the board of trustees last night and complained that El Cerrito was closed, while the saloons were open in Pinole and other places in the county. Permission was given the saloonmen to reopen, providing no crowd was allowed to gather.

ALAMEDA REPAYS RED CROSS FOR WORK IN INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC

The city of Alameda last night approved a request from E. K. Taylor, president of that city's chapter of the Red Cross, for $1000 to pay the Red Cross for services rendered during the influenza epidemic. The check was sent to the secretary of the Red Cross by the city clerk this morning. Several of the Alameda city officials who were injected with the influenza preventive serum are declaring that the cure of the serum is worse than the disease itself.
