American Soldiers in Hospitals Always Happy, Smiling and Very Hungry

Letter from Vera Johnson, base hospital, to her sister Florence Johnson of this city.

Dear Sister, I was glad to hear from you and was happy to learn that there were no difficulties in getting to the train. Merry and I are well and will try to do all we can to get to your farm.

American troops in England are always happy, smiling and very hungry. They are doing well and are doing their best to keep up their morale.

We are all well and hoping to hear from you soon.

Yours truly,

Vera Johnson

WAR SERVICE COMMISSION NAMES 2 NEW CHAPLAINS; OTHER WORK PLANNED FOR

Rev. J. M. McManus of Spring Lake and Rev. L. J. Lambert of East Brunswick nominated as new chaplains by the War Service Commission.

Several other chaplains have also been nominated and will be announced in the near future.

GOVERNMENT TO ENCOURAGE LOCAL POTTASCH PRODUCTION

In order to encourage local pottasch production, the government is taking steps to promote the growth of native plants. Several localities have already begun to produce pottasch, and the government is making efforts to extend these efforts.

MISSION ENTHUSIAST TRAINEE FOR CITY WORK

In obedience to Gov. Blair's orders, the mission has been working in the Y. M. C. A. each Monday evening with the American soldiers. The officers are always present, but the members are not as yet organized. The training is being conducted under the supervision of the mission's new trainee, who is also a member of the military staff.

A mission report states that in the present time there is a great demand for personnel, particularly in the Y. M. C. A. Kindly ask your friends to attend the training sessions, which are held every Thursday evening at the headquarters of the Y. M. C. A., and help to make your city a better place to live in.
