Mass Sports Will Feature "U" Athletics

Eleven Football Teams Are Already Practicing at the University.

Mass athletics or sports for the entire university, will be the rule at the University of Washington this fall.

While it is probable that an all-Washington team will be chosen to meet other aggregations later in the season, at the present time football will be confined to the regiment with spirit Saturday.

Already Coach Claude Hunt, who is directing the old athletics, is busy mapping out a schedule for sports, and his plan was put into practice the last of last week. Eleven football teams have already been formed and are practicing for the inter-company series.

Other sports besides football will be featured during the fall, announced Coach Hunt. Boxing, wrestling, basketball, cage ball, basketball, and other sports will be practiced.

Already there are seventy-five men out for boxing and about the same number for wrestling. The basketball team is also being organized.

GOLF PROVES With Indoor Attractions Many Fans Are Whirl at

For the first time in the athletic calendar of Seattle, the sports of the week are postponed or canceled.

Every branch of sports is affected by the epidemic of indoor games, which is being played, but the sport—boxing, bowling, and ball, soccer, etc.—is not.

And what's more, there is little prospect of any sports during the coming week.

Right now the fans are talking about the sport of the week, which is the sport of the week.

Football has been postponed because of the influenza epidemic.
