CONTINUE RIGOROUS EFFORTS TO STAMP OUT THE PLAGUE

City Officials Will Maintain Measures—Warn Public That Danger Has Not Passed and That Vigilance Is Necessary.

"From every indication we have, things look better," said Mayor Walter R. Stone last night in discussing the epidemic influenza situation. He announced the total number of cases in Syracuse is well within 5,000, and the cooperation of the public and the improvement in the weather we are hopeful of continued improvement."

City officials are hopeful the situation will become better but they are not relaxing and do not want the public to feel that the danger is over. A decline in the number of deaths from Monday and reports from individual physicians that their patients are improving and the number of deaths from the plague less yesterday than on the preceding day were encouraging signs.

Walter W. Nicholson, commissioner of public safety, said of the situation in general: "The only judgment we can form is on the decline in the number of deaths and the reports of the physicians, and from these we believe the situation is not as bad as we feared. With the general closing of the schools, the people on their guard against the spread of the disease and the improvement in the weather we are hopeful." "The questionnaires which we get from physicians in the morning will give us a better line on the real situation than we have today," he said. "I am glad to hear that you have taken today that it generally is improving. We shall continue without abating our vigilance, but from present indications no steps more drastic than we have taken are necessary."

SIXTY-ONE DOCTORS REPORT

Dr. D. M. Totman, health officer, yesterday received questionnaires from sixty-one physicians in Syracuse. He said that 1,771 cases under treatment. Taking the average of these sixty-one reports and twenty-nine other reports from the total number of physicians in Syracuse, Dr. Totman believes the total number of cases is not in excess of 5,000. "They are removing soldiers from the hospitals here to the infirmary on the fair grounds and there are making room here for civilian patients. Forty men were removed from the Cross-Street hospital yesterday and they will

VILLAGES ADOPT STRICT MEASURES TO FIGHT PLAGUE

Schools and Public Meeting Places Are Closed by Officials.

The influenza situation in the towns and villages in the vicinity of Syracuse parallels conditions here, the only difference being that made by the difference in population. In most places schools and amusement places have been closed, and in some the restrictions affect the churches.

Syracuse last night decided to follow the example of Syracuse and close in an effort to stop the march of the epidemic influenza. A board of health issued a decree that beginning this morning no schools, churches, public meeting places or other public places should be open until the influenza has been arrested. In Fayetteville there are nearly fifty cases of influenza and there have been a number of deaths within the past few days. With a population of approximately 100, the village has had a number of deaths in thirty-six have epidemic influenza. Most of them are young people. About one-third of the population of the Provision Clothing Company are ill.

Half the men in the Morris Machine Works, Fayetteville, are out of town. One entire shift has been suspended. It is estimated that there are 600 cases in the village. Health authorities Monday ordered schools, churches and amusement places closed. An order was passed by the village board of health last night to discontinue all church services in Westwood until further notice. Parents are asked to keep their children at home. The schools were closed Monday. The school on the thirteenth Indian reservation was closed yesterday by Dr. H. E. Crane, physician to the Indians. There have been four deaths at the reservation. Dr. W. H. Dinwiddie, health officer of Tully, reported fifty or sixty cases in the village and vicinity. He said that a case appeared after some of the residents had returned from the State Fair, where it seemed they were exposed.

Domestic Science Teachers and Red Cross Committee Co-operating in Relief Work.

Diet kitchens have been established in the domestic science laboratories of five schools of the city to prepare food for the stricken families and little children throughout the city. The movement was started yesterday at the direction of the local chapter of the Red Cross. Domestic science teachers and grade teachers have volunteered their services. The food is being distributed by the Red Cross Motor Corps. More than fifty families were furnished with food yesterday.

Investigate Cases.

Alto the work is being conducted at the direction of the civilian relief committee of the Red Cross, the school department and Dr. D. M. Totman, health officer, are co-operating.

Where to Send Supplies.

At present the Red Cross is supporting the diet kitchen financially as an emergency measure, but there is hope that the school department will be sent to the school kitchen by the Red Cross. The equipment and janitor service has been given by the educational department.

Yesterday cream soup, stews, milk, rice, cream dishes for invalids, coon and egg salad were among the prepared dishes sent to the invalids. From one school district fifty persons in this village were fed. One case of a slave, where the mother and several children are ill with the epidemic, was reported from the kitchen at North High School.

New Cases at Recruit Camp Drop to Six

Epidemic Nearly Ended Says Major Thompson—Seven Dead.

Seven deaths of soldiers were reported in Syracuse hospitals yesterday, but the gratifying news was given out at the Syracuse hospital that only six new cases of influenza had been found.

Employment Service Helps Fight Epidemic

Beginning tonight the offices of the United States Employment Service, No. 18 West Jefferson street, will be open on Wednesday evenings until 9 o'clock to accommodate workers, both men and women, who are employed during the day and are unable to get out on the day during regular business hours.

S. A. T. C. Men Put Under Quarantine

Captain Gross of the Student Army Training Corps (S. A. T. C.) announced last night that all quarantined men of the corps until the danger of the influenza epidemic is discontinued until further notice.

Patrolman Redges

Night work is not agreed with Patrolman W. C. Snyder, a member of the police force, since October 1, according to his statement to Chief of Police Gledhill when he handed in his resignation after waiting a best for three nights.

Activities of Boy Scouts Curtailed by the Epidemic

Practically all the activities of the Boy Scout organization in this city were halted yesterday by order of Commissioner of Public Safety Nicholson. The most important work being done by the scouts was the distribution of liberty loan literature to homes in Syracuse and the selling from house to house of war savings stamps.

Activities of Boy Scouts Curtailed by the Epidemic

Plans had been perfected to have the scout outfit peach stoves and nut shells from restaurants and fruit stands but this work must now wait until the epidemic is over. The stoves and shells were to have been sent to the War Department for use in making charcoal for gas masks. Groups of two and three boys may go out into the country to gather the nuts from the trees.

Activities of Boy Scouts Curtailed by the Epidemic

There will be no more troop hikes until further notice. "Squire" Henderson issued an order warning his boys against leaving their homes. The run was
