A. Glenn Crothers is associate professor of history at the University of Louisville, where he has taught since 2005. He is the author of Quakers Living in the Lion’s Mouth: The Society of Friends in Northern Virginia, 1730–1865 and coeditor of Borderland Narratives: Negotiation and Accommodation in North America’s Contested Spaces, 1500–1850. He is presently writing a dual biography of nineteenth-century Quaker ministers and educators Samuel Janney and Benjamin Hallowell.

Ian de Silva is an engineer employed in the aerospace & defense industry and has nearly twenty years of experience in several engineering fields. He has an inveterate interest in American technological history, especially steamboats.

Allen C. Guelzo is the Henry R. Luce Professor of the Civil War Era and Director of Civil War Era Studies at Gettysburg College, and also the William Lockhart Garwood Visiting Professor in the James Madison Program at Princeton University. His website is allenguelzo.com.

Harold Holzer is Jonathan W. Fanton Director of the Roosevelt House Public Policy Institute at Hunter College in New York City. The author, co-author, or editor of 52 books on Lincoln and the Civil War, he won the 2015 Lincoln Prize and a 2008 National Humanities Medal.

Sarah Meer is a Senior University Lecturer at the University of Cambridge and a Fellow of Selwyn College. Her book, Uncle Tom Mania, was a finalist for the George Freedley Memorial Award and was widely reviewed. She is currently writing a book on transatlantic cultural forms in the nineteenth century called Cousins and Claimants: it includes a chapter on Our American Cousin.

R. Boyd Murphree was formerly an assistant editor with the Papers of Abraham Lincoln and is now project manager for the University of Florida Smathers Libraries’ Florida Family and Community History Collection. He is the coeditor of a forthcoming book from the University Press of Florida on the history of Florida’s governors.

John A. O’Brien is an independent researcher who studies Lincoln’s involvement as president with the Washington, D.C. community. He published a map of Lincoln sites that provides context for the stories of his visits and relationships in the city. He is the Lincoln historian at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church and is currently working on a biography of Lincoln’s Civil War era pastor, Phineas Gurley. He is currently president of the Lincoln Group of the District of Columbia.

Jonathan W. White is associate professor of American Studies at Christopher Newport University. He is the author or editor of eight books on Abraham Lincoln and the Civil War, including most recently Midnight in America: Darkness, Sleep, and Dreams during the Civil War and “Our Little Monitor”: The Greatest Invention of the Civil War, with Anna Gibson Holloway. He serves on a number of boards, including the Abraham Lincoln Association, the Abraham Lincoln Institute, the Lincoln Forum, the Nau Civil War Center at the University of Virginia, and the Ford’s Theatre Advisory Council.